

ARTIOM GUTU

gutu.artiom444@gmail.com

Data Scientist, Axiom

Dear Hiring Manager,

Axiom's small data science team appeals to me because the role combines model work, research and clear reporting. I recently completed a First-Class Computer Science degree, where my dissertation investigated anomaly detection in AWS Lambda environments using serverless telemetry.

My background also includes paid online teaching and customer-facing direct sales.

Those roles gave me experience communicating with learners and customers. In project work, I designed or implemented material parts of Northern Ray, an external-client website and application that was later abandoned by the client.

I would welcome a conversation about how my research foundation and communication experience could contribute to Axiom's procurement data products.

Kind regards,

Artiom Gutu